

Share Now

777

Copy Link

MOST READ

6th Circuit Court Rules Against Bid...
24HR X6243 X1525

Omicron Variant Detected in 11...
1D X2096 X1392

Michigan Shooting Suspect's Parents...
1D X117 X348

A person takes a COVID-19 test at mobile testing site near Grand Central Terminal in New York on Dec. 3, 2021. (Yuki Iwamura/AP Photo)

PREMIUM AMERICA

ER Doctor: Omicron May Provide Natural Immunity With Mild Symptoms

By Tammy Hung | December 5, 2021 Updated: December 5, 2021

Dr. Omar Hamada on Dec. 1 said that the Omicron variant of COVID-19 may provide natural immunity without inducing severe illness, as the symptoms so far resemble more of a "mild, common cold" in South Africa.

In an interview with NTD's "Capitol Report," the emergency room doctor and former U.S. Army Special Forces lieutenant colonel said that even though "we're seeing an uptick in [the] number of people affected, the severity of disease seems to be, at this point, minimal."

"If the infectivity is greater, but the virulence or severity is less, this may be actually something good in terms of getting people immune to it without necessarily having to depend on a vaccine that's not incredibly effective," Hamada stated.

On Dec. 3 the World Health Organization (WHO) said that Omicron has been detected in 38 countries, up from 23 countries two days prior.

The Omicron variant has also been reported in 11 U.S. states as of Dec. 4, including 15 cases in vaccinated individuals.

One of the cases in the United States so far was confirmed to have recovered from COVID-19 and have natural immunity.

Being mRNA-based, both the Moderna and Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 vaccines trigger the body to recognize and attack the CCP (Chinese Communist Party) virus's spike protein.

Because the Omicron variant has "approximately two dozen mutations in that spike protein," according to Hamada, the effectiveness of current vaccines against the new variant remains to be seen.

Dr. Anthony Fauci, chief medical adviser to the Biden administration, stated in a Friday briefing that it would "take a while" to know "what the impact is going to be globally and for people who are infected with Omicron."

"We absolutely have community spread in this country," Fauci told Bloomberg TV on Friday. "We don't know how many of them, but there's no doubt there's community spread."

While Omicron is spreading rapidly globally, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Director Dr. Rochelle Walensky urged reporters to focus on the Delta variant for the time being during the White House briefing.

"I know that the news is focused on Omicron, but we should remember that 99.9 percent of cases in the country right now are from the Delta variant," Walensky said.

Pfizer executive Ralf Rene Reinert said he does not "expect that there will be a significant drop in effectiveness" of the current vaccine against Omicron, and emphasized the importance of the booster program, in an interview with Bloomberg on Dec. 2.

When the Beta and Delta variants emerged, Pfizer had already started working on new versions of its vaccines only to conclude that the original shot provided good protection, Reinert told Bloomberg.

Meanwhile, Moderna could have a COVID-19 booster shot targeting the Omicron variant tested and ready to be submitted for authorization as early as March, according to the company's president who spoke to Reuters on Dec. 1.

Tammy Hung Follow

95 Comments Hide Comments

Policies and Regulations

LOGIN TO COMMENT

Sort by Newest

donaldsimms45
Just now
Previous comment very well said. This tells us everything we need to know. As for the booster shots they are now trying to push put them where they should be IN THE TRASH CAN

accash65
Just now
Whatever happened to the common cold and flu? Must every sniffle and sore throat be associated to COVID???

mcsweat
1 min ago
How does this make the OBIDIXI REGIME AND FRAUDXI stop shutting down everything and making people make a choice regarding being fired and not being able to take care of themselves and families.

THE MANDATES NEED TO BE GONE LIKE YESTERDAY ALONG WITH THE MEDIA AND THEIR

EPOCH TV

Featured Channels

AMERICAN THOUGHT LEADERS | COUNTER CULTURE | FACTS MATTER! | CROSS ROADS | THE LARRY ELDER NEWS SHOW

Top 10 Videos

Thanksgiving Special: Exclusive Interview With th...
X1327 X206

Dr. Harvey Risch: Hydroxychloroquine,...
X8144 X240

Live Q&A: Epstein's 'Lolita Express' Pilot Testifies;...
X174 X67

The Truth Looting Sp...
X394 X153

From Around the Web

More Than 40,000 March in Vienna Against Coronavirus Lockdown
ntd.com

Musk Warns SpaceX Employees: Company Faces 'Genuine Risk Of Bankruptcy'
benzinga.com

China Evergrande Gets $260 Million Demand, Warns of Non-Payment
ntd.com

Clint Eastwood Awarded $6.1M In CBD Lawsuit
benzinga.com

Fauci: COVID-19 Hospitalizations Rising Among Vaccinated People
ntd.com

Tucker Carlson: We Should Be Prepared For What Is Happening In Australia
realclearpolitics.com

Incredible Cave Paintings 8 Miles-Long Deep in Amazon Forest
goodnewsnetwork.org

3 Reasons Why Bitcoin And Rest Of The Crypto Bunch Are On A Freefall
benzinga.com

Ex-Trump Attorney Michael Cohen To Sell NFT Of His Prison Badge
benzinga.com

